

Nature and Myth are Forged Together in Metal and Stone in the Wild Whimsy Jewelry Collection from Kryzia Kreation

Seminole, Florida (February 11, 2008) . . . Magical forests, and the creatures that reside in them are only a few of the popular myths and legends that surround nature and all her beauty. Now, those magical beings come to life in the new Wild Whimsy jewelry collection at Kryzia Kreation. Christina Paluszek, owner and designer of Kryzia Kreation, has taken her love of nature and transformed it into wearable pieces of art by combining hand-carved sterling silver leaves and vines, with semi-precious gemstones and pearls, to create this magical woodland in a series of necklaces, bracelets and earrings.

Within the new Wild Whimsy Collection, you will find finely etched trees and vines, inquisitive little fairies, a bird's nest comforting a tiny white egg, and even a charming spider resting in its web. Every detail in each design, from hand-carving the sterling silver leaves, to molding and painting the small fairy faces from porcelain clay, is completely hand-fabricated by Paluszek. Each finely hand-crafted design not only entices the wearer to really look at the design and investigate the detailed work involved, but also to handle it and discover its unique texture, personality and beauty.
